

LLOYD GEORGE CONFIDENT OF FINAL VICTORY

Peace Should Come in 1917
If Enemy is Wise—Strength
At Sea is Unbroken—The German Involvement

In addressing a large audience in his own constituency to give, an act of his stewardship, Premier Lloyd George made a most stirring speech. In part he said:

"Peace without victory would mean peace, but a rest for the central powers with time to recuperate."

"Peace would come in 1917, said the premier, if Great Britain's enemies knew that by holding out until 1918 they would be worse off, not better off."

The premier said he never had any doubts as to ultimate victory, but "neither have I any doubts that before that is reached there will be many broad, turbulent rivers to cross, and that the nation must help to bridge those rivers."

"There is much in the military situation which must necessarily cause anxiety. There are the Balkans, where an advantage after another has been thrown away. It is no one's fault in particular. All the four countries unthinkingly have been to blame for the recent developments of things. The imprudence, the lack of vision, imagination, promptitude, the delay—all these combine to produce this Balkan muddle."

"When we come to sea there is much glory in that after a period of two and half years, our strength is unbroken."

"Germany had the consciousness to announce as a favor to the great republic of the west," said Mr. Lloyd George, "that she would allow an American passenger ship to ply to and from British port provided it was the work of a Dutch public steamer. Was there ever such insolence? It amounts to insanity."

Lloyd George said the one task was to mobilize the resources of all the entire allies and utilize them for the best purpose possible. The empire, he said, could and would do more than it was doing at present. The material could be used in the course of the next few weeks, and among other questions to be considered by it was the disposal of the German colonies.

He appealed to the whole nation to support the war less for the national service plans, and asked farmers to cultivate every available foot of land. The farmers, he said, wanted their able-bodied men, but they could not get them as they were wanted in France.

Daughter of Redcliff Couple Appreciated

We clip the following from the Evening News of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. Mr. Forbes in Redcliff in 1912 and Mr. Forbes in 1916, and the many friends they met here will be pleased to hear of them again. Mr. Forbes has accepted a call to Scotsburg, N. S., where his induction took place last Thursday. The ladies of the New Glasgow church presented Mr. Forbes with a mink coat and a purse of money, together with a gold wrist watch.

"Last night the social room in the First Presbyterian church was packed to the doors with members of the congregation who assembled to bid farewell to their pastor and his good wife, the Rev. G. Ernest and Mrs. Forbes. For the past twelve and a half years Mr. Forbes gave of his very best efforts in his pastoral duties, during which time his deep and disinterested love of his people and the highest esteem of the people of New Glasgow and the surrounding parishes, Mr. Forbes, as well, in her association and co-operation with the women of the congregation, besides several others, and as mistress of the manse, she is known as second to none. Very ministers are received into a church with such hearty enthusiasm of the good will and esteem as was expressed last night for Mr. Forbes in his departure. The evidence of that is expressed in a tangible way when he was handed a check of $10,000.00 from the congregation, besides several letters from individuals in the congregation who were unable to be present. This indeed testifies to the depth of the congregation's appreciation of his good work amongst them."

British Steamer Is Torpedoed Off Irish Coast

Official cables received today announce the sinking of the British steamer California off the Irish coast by a German submarine.

The captain of the ship was quoted as saying the submarine did not hail or give any warning before firing two torpedoes from a distance of 300 yards and sending the California down.

According to the Exchange Telegraph Company, nearly 50 passengers or members of the crew are reported missing. The Central News says 28 of the missing are members of the crew. The pursuer is reported to have been killed. The Central News says the California's light boats on the portside were launched and that some of the passengers and crew were able to get away on the boats.

The California was armed with a stern gun, and carried a large cargo, including, it is said, war supplies.

United States Is Preparing for War

The United States government is waiting for some act of Germany's which might make relations suddenly more serious, but it was stated, after the cabinet meeting Wednesday, that nothing had occurred to change the attitude. The next step of the United States, if one should be necessary, will be taken without addressing any communication to Germany. It was declared authoritatively.

That the United States is preparing for the worst is evidenced by the fact that the work of getting ready for eventualities is going steadily forward in all branches of the government.

Three emergency amendments to the naval bill were presented to the house by Chairman Padgett of the naval committee after conference with administration officials. They provided for the issue of $100,000,000 of three per cent five-year bonds to cover the cost of quick delivery of ships and war supplies, including more submarines, destroyers and ammunition.

Application of $100,000,000 for purchase of the latest type of aircraft, and development of aircraft.

Blanket authority to the president and secretary of the navy to order ships or war materials from any plant within the limits of appropriations.

The war department put its quartermaster's agent into the market to reserve store up to the maximum supply at once.

A dispatch from Madrid says that the note from Spain to the central powers is an energetic protest against Germany's new measures of naval warfare, proclaiming the right of Spain to free use of the sea and commercial intercourse with foreign countries.

Good Hockey Match Here Last Tuesday

The hockey match played here last Tuesday evening between the Medicine Hat City team and the local school team, was the most classy and interesting game played here this season. The home boys showed up well and for the first two periods it looked as though they were going to be easy winners. However, in the final period they awakened and the visitors appeared to gain strength with the result that the visitors won out by the narrow margin of six goals to five.

The game was in three periods of 20 minutes each. In the first the play was very even throughout with the odds in favor of the home team, and the score when the bell sounded was 1-0 in their favor. In the second period both teams were going strong and the visitors made a desperate effort to even the score. In this, however, they were not successful, as the local team scored four to their two. Score at the close, 4 to 2 in favor of Redcliff.

The third period the local team scored four goals and as a result, very decisive. As the visitors were a much heavier team this condition as to their advantage and they started out to win. They scored four goals in rapid succession while the home team only scored one goal. The local team scored at the final sounding of the bell with one to the good in favor of the visitors.

The game was a most interesting one for the spectators and their supporters are delighted with the prospect of an active campaign for the comparatively short time.

Although this is the last schedule game for the season it is expected to arrange more games before the ice goes.

After the game the visitors were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fairbairn, where refreshments were served and a pleasant hour spent.

U. S. Take Valuable Interned Vessels

At the present time there are 67 German and Austrian liners, including liners and freighters in United States ports. These range from the gigantic ten-million-dollar "Vaterland" of 54,000 tons down to the little "Mastine" of 197 tons. Their total tonnage is over half a million tons, and they are valued at $200,000,000. These have been taken over by the American government since diplomatic relations with Germany was severed.

There are also there a number of other German boats interned in outlying American possessions.

Three men were killed and probably some others injured when the north-bound passenger train from Regina to Saskatoon overran a snow plow here on the night of over half a million dollars have been purchased.

UNITED STATES HAS SEVERED RELATIONS

Country Now on Verge of War With Germany — Is Waiting For First Overt
Act For Hostilities

Last Saturday afternoon the United States broke off diplomatic relations with Germany and today the country is standing on the verge of war. The president declared the country would await overt acts before the open hostilities commence. Official announcement of the action of the United States was given Saturday afternoon, when President Wilson, in a stirring address before a joint session of congress, stated that, following Germany's announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare, he felt compelled to take action.

The president announced in the course of his speech that Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had been given his passports and the United States ambassador at Berlin, James W. Gerard, had been ordered not only to close the embassy at Berlin, but also to leave the country. This action of the president is unusually sweeping and makes the severance complete.

Immediately following the breaking of diplomatic relations, Governor Whitman of New York state ordered out the state militia and directed public buildings, bridges and shipping throughout the state, and 17,000 men are to be mobilized within the week. An official order was also sent out to the Red Cross headquarters to make all the necessary arrangements for an active campaign.

President Wilson's action has met with hearty and unanimous support, but only in both houses of congress, every state in the Union and many of the leading newspapers. His speech in congress was listened to with the deepest interest, and at its conclusion Mr. Wilson was loudly cheered.

Settlement of Coal Miners Trouble

A settlement of the trouble between the coal miners of district 18 and the operators has been effected according to announcements made on Sunday by both government officials, operators and men. The settlement provides that the men receive the 9½ per cent increase, which approximates $1.75 per man per week, from November 22 until March 1.

As March 31 is the date of expiration of the present working agreement, the men's understanding is that negotiations shall begin the first of March, with a view of effecting a permanent settlement at that time. The settlement, therefore, is in the nature of a truce until that date.

Henry Ford With President Wilson

Henry Ford, manufacturer and pacifist, has announced that in the event of war he would place his factory at the disposal of the government and operate it without profit.

"I stand with our president," said Mr. Ford in a formal statement, "and in the event of a declaration of war I will place our factory at the disposal of the United States government, and will operate without one cent of profit. I will also contribute my own time and work harder than ever before."

Ships were taken to bring the compliments of each vessel up to war footing and complete repairs are necessary. The fleet, which is commanded by Capt. Rodd, is now at readiness.

A signal of eight minutes, commanded by a corporal from the Philadelphia navy yard, left for Westchester, N. J., to guard the German wireless signals there. Officials at the yard said this action was taken on orders from the navy department at Washington.

Britain Will Show Gratitude To Gerard

The gratitude frequently expressed by the British newspapers in the past for the work done by James W. Gerard, the American ambassador at Berlin, in behalf of British principles, has been renewed in prospect of his departure for his own country. The Morning Post, after warm recognition of his services, says:

"The fact that Great Britain will give herself the privilege of making to Mr. Gerard an enduring memorial which shall stand as a record in the world's history is a gratification."

Mounted Police Force

As a result of the withdrawal by the Dominion government on March 1st of the mounted police from the province of Alberta, it has become necessary to organize a provincial police force, and at a full meeting of the executive council last Friday afternoon, at which the matter received attention, an order-in-council bringing into being of the "Alberta Provincial Police Force" was passed. The announcement was made by the premier. The premier also announced that the force would be administered by a commission entirely independent of the government.

Crew Disable Engine Of Enterned Steamer

The refugee German steamer Kron Princessen Gode, built at a cost of $4,500,000, and now interned at Bonth, has been rendered useless for months by disabling of her engine, it was discovered Tuesday by an engineer of the United States guard service. He reported that his examination indicated a deliberate attempt to cripple the liner. The damaged parts cannot be replaced in the United States. An attempt will be made to bring criminal prosecution against those who may be found responsible for the damage.

Little Doing on Any Battle Fronts

Little fighting of moment, aside from the usual bombardments and small attacks is in progress on any of the battle fronts. The Germans and Russians in the Riga sector have been ordered to observe a strict neutrality. In both these sectors the Germans, who were on the offensive, were repulsed according to Petrograd.

On the line in France surprise attacks at various points have met with little success. French and German small trench elements.

The British, on a front of 650 yards, have captured Turk positions to a depth of 400 yards at the junction of the Hai and Tigris rivers near Kut-el-Amara, and inflicted heavy casualties on the Ottomans. The mouth of the Hai river, opposite Kut, is now held by the British war office in order to control the right of the British.

THURSDAY, FEB. 8, 1917.

IT'S NOT NECESSARY.

In the speech from the throne in the provincial legislature now in session, it is proposed that the soldiers be given the privilege of electing two members of parliament to represent them in the legislature. These members are to be voted on by soldiers only and will represent what is termed "constituencies at large."

It seems to us entirely unnecessary to segregate the soldiers' vote. In the first place this will mean perpetuating the distinction between soldier and civilian and will be an obstacle in the way of that harmony which should characterize the country after the war is over, as much as now.

In the second place we don't believe the soldiers themselves want to be spooned for in this way. This fact was shown by a returned soldier here last week when he said: "You needn't worry about the returned soldiers. They can look after themselves." Then again there are at the present time thirteen members of the legislature in the service. It is only reasonable to assume that if an election were called on at any time, at least half of these would be again returned as members to represent the soldiers. But we do not believe that even this is necessary to assure a square deal for the soldiers. We believe that the general public have sufficient pride in and love for our heroes to do all that is possible for them without any forcing or coercion. As a proof of this we have only to look back over the experiences of our neighbors to the south. After commanding general of the army, was elected president. He was succeeded by Hays, Garfield and Arthur in succession, three more Civil War veterans. Harrison and McKinley were in soldiers who had seen service in the same war, and Theodore Roosevelt was a Spanish War veteran. With the exception of Cleveland, who served two terms, all the presidents of the United States from the time of the Civil War down to Roosevelt were war veterans. The soldiers were also well represented in both the senate and house of congress as well as in all state legislatures. All this happened without any special legislation or segregation of soldiers' votes. The same would, in all probability, be the result in Canada if the matter were left in the hands of soldiers and civilians alike.

OF INTEREST TO US.

The action of President Wilson in severing diplomatic relations with Germany means that the United States now stands on the verge of war with all the historic precedent of centuries pressing it forward.

In view of President Wilson's stand in the past, the last note from Germany announcing her campaign of ruthlessness, left him with no alternative but to act as he did.

In announcing his decision to congress the president stated that the United States could not continue relations with a warring power which repeatedly invades its sacred rights and takes the lives of its citizens. With a sense of right the president spoke the words which may carry his country into the world conflict for law and humanity. This action on the part of President Wilson is of more than passing interest to the Canadians. The Dominion's relationship with the republic has been more than that of cousinship. The interchange of citizenship by marriage and business activities have made us as one family, divided only by an imaginary line. It is not, therefore, because "misery likes company" that we welcome this news, even though it may mean the plunging into war of our brothers. It is because we are more than ever convinced that we have been and are fighting for right, and that still another neutral nation which has had the opportunity of studying the tactics of the belligerent nations for thirty months, has been convinced that this latest brutal and insolent pronouncement from Germany is only added proof that the besotted and blood soaked policy of Prussia has not changed. They see in it Germany's militarism in its final flower, the avowed intention to terrorize and murder, to repeat Belgium infamy, the horrors of the Lusitania, and the scores of other crimes against civilization.

It is fitting indeed that the mouthpiece of the German government in the representative of this latest shameful insult to the American people should be Ambassador Bernstorff, the instigator and plotter of murder and destruction of property in the United States.

BEGINNING OF THE END.

Unless the general public in all the allied countries have been getting very unreliable news regarding actual conditions in Europe for the past year, there can be little doubt as to just what this last move on the part of Germany, really means.

No one for a moment believes that Germany's peace proposals of a few months ago were prompted by any love for her enemies or for their future welfare. The reply of the entente powers to those peace suggestions spoke plainly of the object for which they were fighting, and left no doubt in the Kaiser's mind as to what length they were ready to go in, in order to realize that object.

Germany looked for peace on easy terms about two years ago when she expected to land safely in Paris, but it is written large in history that Verdun blasted those hopes. The Zepelin campaign which was to bring Britain to her knees in abject terror was a fiasco and has apparently been abandoned. Now things have reached such a state in Germany that something desperate must be attempted in the hope that it may induce conditions which will make the entente powers look with more friendly eyes on the proposals that there should be a patched-up peace. The policy of avowed submarine ruthlessness is, therefore, the child of panic, and must alienate whatever neutral opinion was still left in the world, as Germany cannot carry out that program without forcing at least the United States to take up arms. The United States is now the strongest nation in the world not actually engaged in the war, and by getting her into it the Kaiser can go to his warring people and admit that Theodore Roosevelt was wrong and that Germany can't lick the world.

This will be the beginning of the end. Those slackers who left Canada and went over to the States rather than enlist will now be like the panicle that fell out of the frying pan into the fire.

The end of the war is now, in sight. As soon as the Kaiser hears of this, Theodore Roosevelt and his four sons have offered their services to fight for the United States he will no doubt throw up the sponge. It is said Teddy was the cause of the war and it is only fitting that he should close it.

The Manitoba government has decided to introduce some amendments to the liquor law in that province. The amendments provide for: Complete elimination of commission houses; prohibition of all manner of advertising of liquor for beverage purposes in the province and curtailing of the traffic in liquor for beverage purposes. A new broom sweeps clean all right.

The department of education in Manitoba announces that the question of instituting some scheme whereby the school boys of the towns and cities may help with the harvesting of this year's crop, is being given serious consideration. This is a good idea. Besides being a great help to the farmers the boys will feel they are doing their bit to help the Empire in her present crisis.

Savings Certificates Are Now On Sale

The new War Savings Certificates which have been created by the government to encourage thrift and economy and to give everyone an opportunity to assist in financing our war expenditures, are now on sale at every bank and money order post office in Canada. The $25 certificate sells for $21.50, the $50 for $43, and the $100 for $86.

As an investment these certificates offer many attractive features, chief of which are the absolute security and the excellent interest returns. For every $21.50 lent to the government now, $25 will be returned at the end of three years.

There are two other features which are especially interesting to small investors. First, the certificate may be surrendered at any time. If the buyer should need his money; and second, each certificate is registered at Ottawa in the buyer's name and, if lost or stolen, is therefore valueless to anyone else.

But while they are excellent from an investment standpoint, the certificates should appeal strongly to Canadians because they offer to those who must serve at home a splendid opportunity for a most important patriotic service. The person who honestly saves to the extent of his ability and places his savings at the disposal of the government by purchasing these certificates, may feel that he is having a direct share in feeding, equipping and maintaining our Canadian soldiers, who are so nobly doing their part.

Raise Fund For British Sailors' Relief

The British Sailors' Relief committee have been successful in raising, with very little trouble, somewhere between eight or nine thousand dollars, and wish to thank all those who have assisted to make this sum possible. Further sums will probably be forthcoming before the account closes on February 15th.

The fund was asked for to show, to a small extent, the appreciation of the people of Canada for the British sailors' services and devotion, in call and in storm, has kept the Dominion from the ravages of the relentless Hun.

The amounts subscribed will be used in the support of the widows, wounded, sick and orphans of these brave seamen.

German Sub Sinks American Steamer

The American steamer Housatonic, loaded with a cargo of wheat for the British government, was torpedoed by a German submarine on Feb. 3rd, near the Solly Islands. As the crew of the Housatonic were given warning this was not considered by the United States as a breach of international law or as justification for declaring war.

The crew was rescued by a British armed cruiser and landed at Penzance, England.

RECOGNIZE DOMINIONS

High Commissioners Lack Important Political Privileges in London

Behind the creation of a new international constitution, and in between the quadrilateral of the four great powers, Canada, Australia and other British Dominions are represented in London by High Commissioners, whose sphere of influence is exceedingly limited. Nothing more aptly illustrates this than the fact which is not generally known that no special visas are required for the High Commissioners in any of the galleries of the House of Commons.

For many years the diplomatic representatives of even the most insignificant foreign countries have been given the privilege of hearing the debates of the House of Commons from seats in the Speaker's gallery, but such privilege has been extended to the High Commissioners of the British Dominions, who are for all practical purposes the ambassadors of their respective governments. This state of affairs is regarded as a precedent and has been repeatedly been made on the part of the High Commissioners. With the view of establishing closer communion between Great Britain and the Dominions, however, a public demand has arisen that the ambassadors of the great Dominions be put on at least an equal footing with the representatives of foreign countries.
